Securikett is now FSC®-certified.

The Forest Stewardship Council, FSC for short, is a global, not-for-profit organization that stands for responsible forest management under environmental and social standards. This certification confirms Securikett's commitment to environmentally appropriate and responsible sourcing in the production of paper security labels.

What does this mean for companies that rely on Securikett products?

With FSC certification, they can be assured that the materials used to make FSC-certified paper security seals come from responsibly managed forests, recycled materials, and other controlled sources and protect the environment, people and wildlife.

The security company Securikett is available to answer any questions you may have about our FSC-certified products.
